The School Context

Bordubi HS School is located in the Hapjan block of the Tinsukia district of Assam. It is managed by the Department of Education. The school is co-educational and situated in a rural area with classes up to XII.

Challenges Faced due to School Closure

The school faced many challenges including a lack of Android Mobile phones on the part of the students, unavailability of mobile networks in certain regions, and poor student participation due to the failure of monthly mobile recharges. Schools also had challenge to protect them from mobile misuse and going astray at some time.

Innovative Leadership Practices for Mitigating Learning Gaps

The school took initiative in making the students believe in the utility of online classes and prepared online teaching materials on English-1, English-2, Math-3 and Social Sciences and motivated them to be regular and punctual in the online classes. To mitigate the learning gaps class-wise, YouTube content videos were shared as resources. Visits were made to the homes of students. 'Zoom App', 'Google Meet' classes, and online discussions. Children who couldn't join online were contacted through alternative strategies including individual phone calls and visiting student's houses.
